EU institutions maintain a watching brief on crowdfunding

The European Parliament issued a briefing covering Crowdfunding in Europe 17 January, which confirms the stance of the European Commission in this debate, which “is that there is no strong case for EU level policy intervention” . This preceded the release of a mid-term review of the European Commission on its Capital Markets Union initiative on 20 January, stating that the institution is maintaining its dialogue with Member States and industry here as it looks to learn more about the market.
